

1 @example vs. @verbatim environment

Here we compare the indentation of the @example and the @verbatim environment. The latter is indented while the former isn't, as can be seen in the examples below.

First, a @verbatim environment:

```
This is a @verbatim environment.
```

Now, the @example environment:

```
    This is an @example environment.
```

For consistent appearance, the @example environment should be used if possible. If @verbatim is unavoidable, surround it with a @quotation environment to get the proper indentation:

```
    This is a @verbatim environment.
```
