PERCUSSION BY PERCUSSION

The image displays a large grid of musical notation for percussion. It consists of 10 staves, each with five lines. The notation is organized into 10 measures across the width of the page. Each measure contains a small circle (representing a note or rhythm) positioned on the second line from the bottom of the staff. The circles are arranged in a regular grid pattern, with one circle per measure per staff. The overall layout is clean and minimalist, typical of a musical score template.
